Today Is Holy To Our Lord

Ezra encourages us, "Rejoicing in the Lord must be your strength." Paul reminds us, "you are Christ's body." And Jesus proclaims our purpose, "to bring glad tidings to the poor..."

As members of Christ's body we are sent to the ends of the earth with the good news of salvation. On Friday, twenty-two members of our faith community joined with 500,000 other members of Christ's body to speak life, to bring hope, indeed, to provide recovery of sight to the blind and to let the oppressed go free. One strategy in our efforts to defend life is to encourage the Supreme Court to review the Roe v. Wade decision. Our larger purpose is to proclaim God's Kingdom so clearly and to trust God's love so deeply that no one ever chooses abortion again.

We are Christ's body, called to live Christ's mission. Our participation in the political arena is an important element of our proclamation of the Kingdom. Exercising our right to vote is a piece of the larger puzzle. But the powers and principalities will not be gathered to the heart of Christ by debate, diplomacy or even activism. It is only by our love for one another and our love for them that we will find our way together. They, too, are members of Christ's body.

Let our prayer for life renew our commitment to love.

Fr Mitch

*May you find Christ here . . .
May you bring Christ to the world.*

"I find this to be a great parish for fellowship." "I had gone here a few times before registering because my niece and nephew go to school here and I felt very welcomed."

Parish Self Study, Survey and Focus Groups

I want to thank everyone who participated in the parish Self-Study process, completed the on-line survey and/or agreed to participate in our upcoming Focus Groups. The pastoral team is reviewing all the data and our newly inspired Parish Council will use this data to set priorities over the next three years.

On the whole it is clear that there is much reason to celebrate our mission at Assumption. And there is much we can do to deepen our commitments to each other and the parish. We can be more inclusive; our outreach can be more effective; our faith formation can deepen and broaden; our connection between school and parish can be improved. I look forward to becoming more of what God has called us to be. Each day will be one step on that journey.

I am grateful to you for being the rich soil in which God can reveal the Kingdom. Commending you and our mission together to Mary,

Fr. Mitch

The Jubilee Year of Mercy

In this weekend's Sunday Gospel, Jesus reads from Isaiah 61. Christ actually began his own ministry, his own preaching under the power of the Spirit, with the great words of the prophet Isaiah: "The spirit of the Lord has been given to me, for he has anointed me. He has sent me to bring the good news to the poor, to proclaim liberty to captives, to the blind new sight, to set the downtrodden free, and to proclaim the Lord's year of favor."

A year of favor from the Lord could certainly be understood as this Jubilee Year of Mercy. And Mercy can be understood as entering into the chaos of another person's life. Isn't that what God did? Enter into the chaos of our lives? He did not and does not stay at a distance from us.

So the question for us becomes, not just what time is Mass? – but rather, what heroic healing things does this parish do and I can I become involved? Our Eucharistic Celebration... in the absence of sending... Instead of go in peace to love and serve the Lord and one another, would be go in peace and make sure you come back next week.

Each and every one of us has the beautiful gift of Mercy built into our DNA through God's Holy Spirit. And our parish is striving to structure itself for mercy, compassion, outreach, advocacy, solidarity and peace. So if you are passionate about the Gospel, we have ways for you to enter into the mercy-work that Jesus is calling us to. Just call Sarah in the parish office at 240-3721, ext. 226.

You know that bible verse... where it says, "Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me." Mt. 25:40 -- Well, that's who we're helping!

Life, Peace, and Restorative Justice

What is Human Trafficking?

In the past decade, human trafficking has emerged as one of the fastest-growing criminal activities in the world. This modern-day form of slavery claims an estimated 20.9 million victims internationally and is a serious violation of human rights. Traffickers use violence, debt bondage, and other forms of coercion to manipulate victims into engaging in commercial sex acts or labor services against their will. Though awareness of and concern about this industry have increased in recent years, human trafficking is consistently underreported due to its covert nature, low community awareness, lack of law enforcement, limited resources for victim recovery, and social blaming of victims.

Human Trafficking in the United States

Contrary to popular belief, human trafficking also occurs domestically, and it is a growing problem for every US state. Federal reports estimate that 14, 500-17,500 victims are trafficked into the US annually, excluding the number of victims who are trafficked within the country each year. The National Trafficking Resource Center reported that of cases reported in the US from 2007-2012, 41% of sex trafficking cases and 20% of labor trafficking cases identified US citizens as victims.

Current Efforts to End Human Trafficking

The main federal legislation in the US used to combat trafficking is the Trafficking Victims Protection Act (TVPA). TVPA was recently reauthorized as part of the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act in 2013. The law includes invaluable specialist services for survivors of human trafficking, grants prosecutors new tools to go after traffickers for exploiting others, and enhances partnerships with focus countries to protect children and prevent child trafficking.

Much work is still left to be done at the state level. All states should have statutes in place that address protection of victims, prosecution, and prevention. Protection must include provisions that cover safe harbor, victim assistance, civil remedies, the ability to vacate convictions for survivors, and strict hotline posting requirements.
